Recently, the Library District learned from Roxy Huber, Executive Director of the Colorado State Department of Revenue, that all entities receiving county sales tax will be impacted by a sizable loss of revenue. The Department of Revenue lost a lawsuit regarding a vendor overcharging sales tax from 2002 to 2005, and a refund is now due those companies who were impacted by the error.

Although the taxes were collected over several years, the refund is immediate, and will be subtracted from our current sales tax collections starting in July 2011 and continuing through June 2012. The amount of sales tax refund owed by Garfield County is around $3.9 million, with the Library District's share one-fourth of that amount. We receive one quarter cent of the County's one cent of sales tax that is collected by the state, and those funds are used to operate all six libraries.

This has been devastating news for the Library District as sales tax revenues have steadily declined for the past 3 years with sales tax collections down over 50% from their historic highs in 2007 and 2008. Reducing our operating income by another $1 million would have certainly resulted in a reduction in library operating hours and staff. We have been helped in our hour of need by the Garfield County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) through their decision to cover half of the amount for the other sales tax-funded entities in the County, including the Library District. The generosity of the BOCC is greatly appreciated and will definitely help us survive this blow.

Going forward, we know that cutting the remaining amount from our already tight budget is going to be challenging and we are working diligently to determine where additional cuts can be found. The Library District's Board of Trustees is committed to doing everything they can to prevent any cuts in services to the public.

Despite the drop in sales tax revenues, we will continue with the construction of new libraries. Our construction budget is funded through property tax as part of a ballot initiative approved in 2006 to allow us to build or remodel all six libraries in Garfield County. Revenues from property tax can only be used for library operations after construction is complete.

Rifle's and Parachute's new libraries opened in 2010, New Castle's remodel and expansion project is underway and design development has begun for a new library in Silt.

The generosity of the BOCC is greatly appreciated and will definitely help us survive this blow.

Summer Reading Continues

Have you registered for this year's Read Every Day summer program at the libraries? So far over 2,700 of your friends and neighbors have. Children are reading, teens are eating bugs, and adults are enjoying cups of tea... all at the libraries. What's stopping you?

Every other week there will be a drawing for a $25 gift certificate at each branch. Adults get one entry for every 7 days of reading. At the end of the summer each library will be giving away a Nook eReader to one lucky adult who read in the summer. You'll want to turn in as many entries as possible because this is the 3G + Wi-Fi Nook which allows you to go almost anywhere and still download books instantly, check your email, and surf the web.

So stop by the library and pick up your reading log bookmark today and get reading.

GARFIELD COUNTY LIBRARIES

Update from the Director

Projects to continue despite sales tax decline

If you've heard the recent news about sales tax revenues, there may be some question in your mind as to whether or not the Library District can continue building new libraries. The answer is an unequivocal yes! Since the District sold Certificates of Participation to finance the projects, we are compelled to finish all construction projects by the end of 2013. The good news is that despite the financial hit that the District is going to take with declining revenues, our capital budget is supported by property tax and should only see minimal impact from the $500,000 sales tax loss we will take over the next two fiscal years. We are thankful that the Board of County Commissioners has assisted us in helping to offset this unfortunate turn of events.

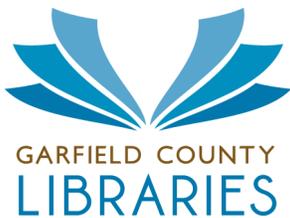

Architectural renderings of the remodeled New Castle Branch Library.

we are finally under construction there after a long wait this spring. There have been a few surprises but the project is moving briskly forward and we are looking at a re-opening next March. We are working with B&H Construction as the general contractor on the job with Michael Hassig and Brad Zeigel of A4 Architecture doing the design work. We recently hired FCI as the contractor for the new library in Silt with Paul Trementozzi of Oz Architecture as the design team. We will be hosting a community meeting on July 20th at 6:30 p.m. at the Silt Branch Library to discuss the design plans and gather community input about the new library.

Silt Branch Library to discuss the design plans and gather community input about the new library. We hope to see you there!

We have purchased a 24,000 square foot lot at the corner of Sopris Avenue and Third Street, adjacent to the Bridges High School, for a new library in Carbondale. We recently negotiated an agreement with the Town of Carbondale to spend up to $500,000 for public improvements on the site (such as streets, utilities, and paving) in exchange for our existing library building on Fourth Street. We anticipate starting the planning process for this library this fall. Finally, the Library District is a part of a joint effort between the City of Glenwood Springs, the Glenwood Springs Downtown Development Authority and Colorado Mountain College to construct a new library in downtown Glenwood Springs at the corner of Eighth Street and Cooper Avenue along with parking and a plaza. We have been working to determine actual costs of construction on this site and should have a firm decision about what the project will look like come September. We will invite the public for input on these projects once we have a design team on board.

If you live in New Castle you'll know that

Book Recommendations from Staff Members

Bless This Mouse by Lois Lowry

This is a charming tale about the church mice of Saint Bartholemew's. The main character is Hildegard the Mouse Mistress whose job it is to keep all the church mice safe and out of sight. Some of the main characters are Roderick, Hildegard, Ignatious and Harvey, plus a cast of over 200 mice. Many challenges are in store for the church mouse family, the annual Blessing of the Animals among them. Life within the stone walls of Saint Bartholemew's is not as serene or safe as one might think. There are times when this story is full of suspense and you wonder if it will have a happy ending. The ending will surprise you and leave you looking forward to further adventures of the mice of Saint Bartholemew's.

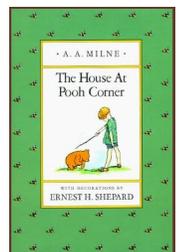

-Ann Honchell, New Castle

The House at Pooh Corner by A.A. Milne

Of all the books I have read, The House at Pooh Corner is still my favorite. Most readers consider it a book written for very young children, but it is full of humor and wisdom. Everyone knows Winnie the Pooh and Piglet and Eeyore. Pooh Bear is the eternal optimist. Piglet is unsure of himself and Eeyore is full of gloom. Rabbit is sure he is always right, but Owl usually is. The characters and adventures they share with Christopher Robin never cease to delight and teach special lessons that even grownups can still learn!

Everyone has a little bit of these characters inside, and knows someone who is an Eeyore or Rabbit. Everyone needs to get back to The House at Pooh Corner! By reading this classic delight, perhaps we can all understand that we live in the Hundred Acre Wood and the creatures living there are very much like ourselves. These stories are excellent reading at the end of a busy day, whether you are five, fifteen, or fifty. Read a chapter before bedtime, and sweet dreams are sure to follow.

-Diane Webster, New Castle

The Library District is purchasing land from the Roaring Fork School District RE-1 for a new library in Carbondale and is working with the City of Glenwood Springs, the Downtown Development Authority and Colorado Mountain College to build a new facility in Glenwood Springs. All facilities should be completed by the end of 2013.

The Library District continues to be committed to building energy efficient buildings with an open design that will allow us to keep staffing to a minimum and operational costs as low as possible. The Library District has strong reserves and every budget discussion reflects our desire to create a sustainable and vibrant organization for the future. We assure you that we will survive this current setback and will continue to provide services to all citizens of Garfield County.

Meet Your Librarian

Bev Chaney
Library Assistant
Silt Branch

If you need a recommendation for a good movie, can't remember the name of a movie, or have a movie trivia question, Bev is the person you need to ask. Her vast knowledge of movies is just one of the many talents she brings to the library. Along with her wit and sense of humor she makes the library a fun and comfortable place to visit.

Bev came to work at the Silt Branch Library in January of 2004. Previously she worked for the RE-2 School District. Having lived in Silt for many years and working at the school made her a natural fit for the library.

Bev was born and raised in Pennsylvania and spent most of her childhood living on the East Coast. She and her husband, Dan, moved to the Western Slope from Oregon in 1981. They have two children, Tai and Kestrel. The real love and light of her life is her grandson, Keegan. She proudly wears the necklace he made for her and recently had his footprints from birth tattooed on her leg. She is always ready to hit the trail to Durango to visit him.

Bev has a passion for collecting "treasures." She has a knack for finding these treasures at yard sales, thrift stores, and on eBay. Her favorite things to collect are antique shoes and telephones. Bev has an incredible knowledge of antiques and collectibles. She gives the best gifts from her collections.

Bev has a real talent for repairing books that need some TLC. This is just one of the many tasks that she does in a typical day. The jobs that she shines at most are helping people and keeping the library running smoothly. Using her Mom's legendary recipes, Bev makes the best cakes ever. Needless to say, the staff loves it when their birthdays and the holidays come around. Along with her great cakes, personality and love of people, we hope Bev will be part of the library family for a long time to come.

The Honey Dewdrops in Concert

Laura Wortman and Kagey Parrish make up the harmonies of The Honey Dewdrops.

The Honey Dewdrops, winners of "A Prairie Home Companion's" Talented People in their Twenties contest, will be performing at four of the Garfield County Libraries this summer. Their honest melodies get rave reviews and Bluegrass Unlimited Magazine says, "their talent is such that it's quite possible that a new band recording in the year 2020 might cite The Honey Dewdrops as a prime influence."

Writing and singing in the veins of folk and old country music, the Dewdrops entwine harmony singing with tight instrumentation, and craft songs that are simple and fine-tuned. They are "the musical equivalent to a couple that finishes each other's sentences" says Shawn Underwood from Twangville.com.

See pages 4 & 5 for dates, times, & venues.

One Book, One Town

Friends of the Gordon Cooper Library present the 8th Annual One Book, One Town reading event: "Get to know your neighbor through a book." This year's author is Helen Thorpe, who has written "Just Like Us: The True Story of Four Mexican Girls Coming of Age in America." This book was chosen as the 2010 Colorado Book Award winner for Creative Non-Fiction.

Ms. Thorpe will speak at the Third Street Center's Round Room in Carbondale at 7 p.m. on Thursday, October 13th. This program will coincide with the Carbondale Council of Arts and Humanities SWAN (Support Women Artists Now) events during the month of October.

Copies of the book are available through the library district with multiple copies available at the Gordon Cooper Branch Library. For further information call 963-2889 or visit www.gcpld.org.

Summer Programs Continue Through July

There's Still So Much to Enjoy!

Are you participating in the libraries' summer Read Every Day program?

*If so, great job! We hope you are enjoying reading and coming to the events.

*If not, what are you waiting for? Over 1,800 of your friends and neighbors throughout Garfield County are participating in the children's program. There are so many cool things happening and we want you to join in our fun.

July will be another busy month as the libraries will have events including Folklorico Dancers in Rifle and Silt on July 9th, the Denver Zoo, an Ice Cream Social, and magician Ann Lincoln.

The libraries are also giving away awesome prizes for reading. Bring in your reading log each time you read 7 days and get a prize book, small toy, or coupon for a treat at a local business.

The program runs through July 31st. You can register anytime and participate in any or all of the free events.

Enjoy your summer at the library!

Database Spotlight

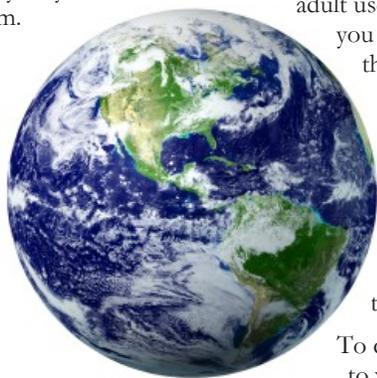

Global Reach of the Libraries

This summer, the Garfield County Libraries encourage you to Read Every Day for our summer reading program.

The themes for each age group are centered around learning about world cultures. We have put together a list of internet resources you can explore to find out more about all the exciting places and people in the world!

On the library website we have Global Road Warrior, World Book Encyclopedia, and Mango Languages.

Global Road Warrior has information on each country such as the cultural makeup of the people, recipes for foods from that country, and travel information. You can even print flags and maps for each country. World Book Encyclopedia has articles about the government, economy and culture of each country. World Book offers three levels of information suited to kids, teens, and adult users. Mango Languages allows you to learn many languages so that when you travel to a new country you will speak the language! Even if your travel plans are only of the armchair variety, check out these great resources to learn more about the countries and cultures of the world we live in.

To check out these databases go to www.gcpld.org/research and click on the "Education" link on the left side.

In addition to resources on our website, there are other fantastic web resources out there where you can continue your exploration of our world. Check out the following websites:

kids.nationalgeographic.com/kids/places/find

This is for children who would like to learn a few tidbits of info about many countries of the world.

www.everyculture.com

This website tells you about the various main cultures within each country.

news.bbc.co.uk/2/hi/country_profiles/default.stm

This website has information about the politics and media in each country.

www.cia.gov/library/publications/the-world-factbook

This is the go-to resource for everything there is to know about every country in the world. It's for everyone from travelers to students needing to write reports.

Enjoy your summer of travel at the library with these wonderful resources which can help you to learn about the countries, people, and cultures of the world.

Teen & Tween Spot

Bugs, Bowling, and Books

The summer of fun continues as we “Read Every Day” through the month of July. Are you participating? For those who are already reading, you know that the libraries are giving away prizes every week and a Nook eReader at every library at the end of July. But did you know you also get entries for completing the weekly scavenger hunt?

If you want to up your chances of winning, turn in a reading log bookmark each week and complete the scavenger hunt each week. That will get you up to 14 entries in the drawing at the end of the summer. Not bad, especially considering the Nook eReader is the 3G + Wi-Fi model that lets you go almost anywhere and download books instantly, read your email, or surf the web.

And there’s so much more to do at the libraries... Are you up for eating bugs? How about a much more tame tasting of candy sushi? What about bowling? Have you ever wanted to participate in an Amazing Race? There are so many activities going on there is simply not enough space to list them all! For more information, including dates, times, and venues, visit www.gcpld.org. There you can link to the calendar or the teen page where you’ll find a ton of information and the scavenger hunt questions.

Get the most out of your summer at the library!

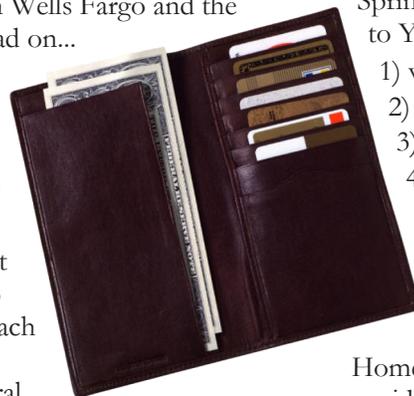

Literacy Outreach

Money, Money, Money...

Sometimes we just need a little information but we’re not sure where to turn. We may wish we knew more about money, credit, or buying a home. But whom should we ask? Where do we go for information that doesn’t cost us our next paycheck? Literacy Outreach has teamed up with Wells Fargo and the Garfield County Libraries to help! Read on...

Literacy Outreach is offering free financial education workshops on a monthly basis at the libraries! (It’s like they read your mind, isn’t it?)

My name is Terrie. As one of the attendees at the first workshop, I want to encourage you to sign up and go to the next one. (Contact Literacy Outreach at 945-5282.) I learned so much that I found myself taking notes about several excellent ways to pare my monthly bills. I now feel that I’m taking some solid steps toward wiser handling of our family’s finances, steps I hadn’t even thought about before. The workshop was small, encouraging, and casual. No one asked me personal questions; they just gave me idea after idea.

I felt completely comfortable, and even got suggestions from the other participants.

The next workshops will be held in English on Tuesday, July 26th at 6:30 p.m.. and in Spanish on Thursday, July 28th at 12:30 p.m.. Both will be at the Glenwood Springs Branch Library. The topic will be “Using Credit to Your Advantage” and it will cover areas such as:

- 1) what credit is and how to make it work for you,
- 2) what your credit score and credit report mean,
- 3) how to use credit cards and loans wisely, and
- 4) how to deal with debt problems.

Here’s an idea: bring your teenagers with you. They will benefit greatly from the information, and you’ll have a basis to start discussions at home.

One of the topics in the fall will be “Buying a Home.” If you have wondered about how to even begin considering the purchase of a home, there’s probably not a better place to start learning. And remember...all of this info about money, for no money at all. What a deal!

See you there.

There's an App for That

The Garfield County Libraries Go Mobile!

If you are on the go, the library will soon be right there with you.

See a book in the store? Reserve a copy to pick up at your local library.

Have a question? Call the library.

Hear a good song on the radio? Place a hold on the CD right then.

You will also be able to view our events calendar to see what's happening at the libraries. Additionally, there will be links to the libraries' facebook page and Flickr stream.

Our mobile app will launch this summer and will be compatible with all web-enabled phones. This includes the Android, BlackBerry, J2ME, Palm OS, Symbian S60, Windows Mobile, and iPhone operating systems.

Make it all happen easily & instantly with the libraries' new app!
